"A Picnic of Poems" I've packed some poems for lunch, some rhymes for us to chew, a simple, sippy, soup of songs, to stir and sing and stew. Like all good meals to munch, it would be very rude not to begin with bismillah, to bless our poetry food. Canadian-born Dawud Wharnsby began writing poetry, composing music, and performing in his teens. Since then he has become a voice for socially conscious and spiritually minded individuals in the twenty-first century.

here at the African picnic. In a parking lot, in a taxi-cab, in a winter coat, in an airport queue, at the INS, on the telephone, on the cross-town bus, on a South Side street, in a brand-new car, in a djellaba, with a cardboard box, with a Samsonite, with an airmail post, with a bag of spice, at the African picnic people come and go.
