All the Justice Money Can Buy will be especially interesting to civil litigators who actually try cases instead of resolving them through settlement or pretrial motions. However, All the Justice Money Can Buy is not without its flaws. Prakash admits that, by the end of the trial, she no longer is a neutral "observer" but wants the "plaintiffs' lawyers . . . to win."

E. L. Doctorow Legislators and judges are necessarily exposed to all the temptations of money, fame, and power, to induce them to disregard justice between parties, and sell the rights, and violate the liberties of the people. Jurors, on the other hand, are exposed to none of these temptations. Votes: 1
