As caregivers, we often use intuition to help us decide what to do. No one ever gave us lessons on how to relate to someone with memory loss. Unfortunately, dealing with Alzheimer ’ s disease and other dementias is counterintuitive; i.e., often the right thing to do is exactly opposite that which seems like the right thing to do.

These were mostly 'programmed' early on in the survival business by their disingenuous survival books designed to teach you how to 'Survive in Place'. The biggest problem with these guides is that they were written by person's of dubious 'experience' and knowledge who really didn't know what they were talking about besides what they watched from TV survival movies.
