The Blindfold. Iris Vegan, a young, impoverished graduate student from the Midwest, finds herself entangled with four powerful but threatening characters as she tries to adjust to life in New York City. Mr. Morning, an inscrutable urban recluse, employs Iris to tape-record verbal descriptions of objects that belonged to a murder victim. George, a photographer, takes an eerie portrait of Iris, which then acquires a strange life of its own, appearing and disappearing without warning around the ...

Both were uncorrected proofs and both were signed by Hustvedt to a man called Edward: 'For Edward, Siri Hustvedt' read the simple dedication. Being a fan of Hustvedt I bought both novels for the princely sum of £5. The Blindfold was published almost 20 years ago in 1993. Set in a two year period between 1979-81 it tells the story of Iris Vegan, a young woman in her early twenties who is in search of an identity.

Hustvedt does such a compelling job of drawing the reader into a world that is dark, yet intriguing. The main character, Iris (Siri spelled backwards) is complex, yet easy to identify with. The examination of the objects is one of the most brilliant ideas I have come across in contemporary literature.
