The Last Leaf, short story by O. Henry, published in 1907 in his collection The Trimmed Lamp and Other Stories. "The Last Leaf" concerns Johnsy, a poor young woman who is seriously ill with pneumonia. She believes that when the ivy vine on the wall outside her window loses all its leaves, she will also die.

~~The Last Leaf | story by O. Henry | Britannica~~

She believed that she would die the day the last leaf of the creeper fell. It was because of this stubborn belief that Behrman, an older artist, lost his life when he went out in the storm to paint a leaf onto the creeper so that Johnsy would not realize that the last leaf had actually fallen. Question 3. This story shows the power of the mind.

The ivy leaf was still there. Johnsy lay for a long time looking at it. And then she called to Sue, who was stirring her chicken broth over the gas stove. "I've been a bad girl, Sudie," said Johnsy. "Something has made that last leaf stay there to show me how wicked I was. It is a sin to want to die."

~~Short Stories: The Last Leaf by O. Henry~~

The last leaf becomes the last hope of survival and keeps the reader hooked until the end. Throughout, the last ivy leaf remains the central point. In the early part of the story it remains associated with Johnsy ' s ailment and depression while later on, it conveys the message of courage, hope and optimism.
